Diphtheria Cure.

The testimony of a prominent physician:

FOUNTAIN CITY, Ind., June 17, 1895.

This certifies that I have been using V. O. in my practice. I have never found any medical preparation in 46 years of practice that is calculated to do so much good in so wide a range of diseases and leave no after bad effects.

In diphtheria it has proved a perfect specific in my hands, and I had rather depend on it alone in that dreadful disease than the whole popular Materia Medica with that left out. For sale by

W. T. Taylor, M. D.

T. P. Bradshaw, Agent.

RENO PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Report and Honor Rolls for the Month of October, 1896.

To the Honorable Board of School Trustees—GENTLEMEN: I herewith respectfully submit my report for the public schools of Reno for the month ending October 30, 1896.

The attendance has been about the same as for September. With two exceptions the various rooms have about the right number of pupils for good results—close to 40 on the average.

NO DIPHTHERIA IN TOWN.

Owing to the various rumors current as to the cases of diphtheria in town many parents have withdrawn their children from school in the last few days. There seems on thorough investigation to be no real occasion for this action. The Board of Health has diligently investigated the matter, and it unanimously declares that there is not a case of the dread disease in the town. We are using much caution, however, promptly sending home every pupil that has any character of sore throat. While parents should be very watchful of their children, there seems, at present, no need to detain them from school.

TEACHERS' MEETINGS.

In our teachers' meetings this year we are making a special endeavor to find the weak spots—always and everywhere plentiful in schools, whether graded or ungraded—in our work, with a view to remedying them. For some time we have been considering how we may best get children to be accurate and rapid in the fundamental rules, addition, subtraction, multiplication and division. Most children seem to think these unimportant, and as a result, they are frequently stumbling on these simple and yet most essential operations in arithmetic. This weakness, apparently common to all grades, and prevailing very generally in schools throughout the country, we hope to meet more successfully this year than heretofore. What boots it that our children know how to solve problems in interest, bank discount and compound proportion if they are not sure of the correctness of their figuring?

INTERESTED WORKERS.

I have never seen our pupils as a body giving better attention to work.

Every room is a beehive of energy, which bespeaks an earnest interest in the work of the schools.

The thorough manual instruction our pupils are receiving in the public schools not only has not detracted a jot from their ordinary work, but seems to have actually aided in improving that work by brightening school life and elevating its tone.

STATE CAPITAL NOTES.

United States District Court and Grand Jury—Brief and Unimportant Session—Coffin Left out—Religious and Political Issues.

CARSON CITY, November 12, 1896.

The Grand Jury venire, drawn for the present term of the United States District Court last Monday, consisted of thirty-four citizens of Ormsby, Washoe, Storey, Douglas and Lyon counties.

Court met at 10 o'clock this morning, Judge Hawley presiding, and from the venire of jurors present, the following were selected and accepted as trial jurors:

Thos. Oliver, R. W. Parry, A. Selt-eimer, Jos. Facy, A. M. Cole, Robert Jones, E. H. Harris, Ed Ward, Henry Lux, O. M. Brown, S. D. Anderson, John Rothensbater, A. J. Millard, J. A. Ragerath, D. A. Walker, A. E. Boncher, E. P. Morton, A. Livingston, E. W. Harris, G. O. Wiltz, C. W. Brown and Wm. McMillan.

His Honor appointed Wm. McMillan foreman, and charged the jury as to their duties under the law. He also stated that Jas. E. Dennis would act as assistant to S. A. Stoney Jones. All jurors in the venire outside of the trial panel were discharged.

The jury retired for deliberation and at 4 o'clock came into court submitting their report. They found bills of indictment against two Chinese, one white man and one woman for selling whisky to Indians, and against one Fremont Coffin was presented or considered.

Foreman McMillan stating that this was the extent of the business presented to the jury for consideration, His Honor said there was nothing further for him to do but to excuse them for the term, which he accordingly did. They all went to the Marshal's office, were paid their fees and mileage and left for their respective homes by evening train or otherwise.

The new Presbyterian Church was dedicated in a very acceptable manner on Sunday evening last. It is a handsomely furnished and conveniently arranged building and would be a credit to any town.

Disappointed politicians and prognosticators continue their chronic crying. Wouldn't have prospered yet in to demonize their pessimistic views and predictions anyhow. All good, sensible voters and supporters of Bryan and free silver, however, like him, are not anywhere broken down, but look hopefully ahead, remembering the eloquent poem of Whittier years ago, when Fremont was defeated for the Presidency:

"If four months so nearly won the field, What may not four years do?"

The Ideal Panacea.

James L. Francis, Alhormau, Chicago says: "I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as an ideal panacea for coughs, colds and lung complaints, having used it in my family for the last five years, to the exclusion of physicians' prescriptions or other preparations."

Rev. John Burgess, Keokuk, Iowa, writes: "I have been a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church for 50 years or more, and have never found anything so beneficial, or that gave such a speedy relief as Dr. King's New Discovery." Try this Ideal Cough Remedy now. Trial bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

AN IMPORTANT DIFFERENCE.

To make it apparent to thousands, who think themselves ill, that they are not afflicted with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleansing, is to bring comfort home to their hearts as a positive condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only, and sold by all druggists.

"TENNESSEE'S PARTNER"

A Touching Story of Life in the Mines. "Tennessee's Partner," a comedy drama, suggested by Bret Harte's exquisite romance of laughter and tears, is on at the Columbia and will be continued another week. The acting is admirable and the singing by the Golden Nugget Quartet simply grand. The best work is done by Larry Main-mall, "the square head dealer," Oliver A. Barr, his partner, Chas. B. Hawkins, "a magnificent liar," Edna Williams as "Nettie Blue," and Jane Corcoran as "Tennessee." The scenery and costumes make a very pretty series of pictures, and the play has met with popular approval.

A Valuable Prescription.

Editor Morrison of Worthington, Ind., writes: "You have a valuable prescription in Electric Bitters, and I can cheerfully recommend it for constipation and sick headache, and as a general system tonic it has no equal."

Mrs. Annie Stehle, 2625 Cottage Grove Ave., Chicago, was all run down, could not eat nor digest food, had a backache which never left her and felt tired and weary, but six bottles of Electric Bitters restored her health and renewed her strength. Price 50 cents and $1. Get a bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

Viavi Is King.

Visitors to Reno, are cordially invited to call and investigate the merits of Viavi. I have sold since June, 1892, $13,900 worth, this speaks its value without further words.

School Shows.

Tasell Brothers have a large and fine assortment of shoes for school children which parents are invited to call and inspect as they are being sold at a very low rate.

THE HORSE SHOW.

Wonderful Feats by Trained Animals. The great Bristol Horse Show comes to McKissick's Opera House for two nights and a matinee next week. The wonderful feats performed by these trained horses have been a source of wonder and delight to the crowds that have been drawn to their exhibition.

Their recent engagement in San Francisco was a great success, all the newspapers of that city give them the highest praise. Horses that can think and reason are seldom seen, and the tricks performed by these animals would certainly indicate a reasoning faculty. Their entertainment is full of interest and all should see it.

The prices will be 50 and 75 cents at night and 25 and 50 cents at the Matinee Tuesday at 3 P. M.

An exchange says: "A large and highly pleased audience witnessed the first appearance of Prof. Bristol's educated horses, at the Columbia theatre last night. Denver, Comanche and Sultan are the stars. Denver is a small male, the clown and made lots of fun for the little folks. Comanche is the star at balancing and Sultan will give the month, day and time of day by the watch, and solves problems in arithmetic given by persons in the audience."

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she used Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Noise and the Death Rate.
It is of course impossible to state exactly what part noise in New York city plays in the death rate and the sick list, but every physician knows it must be considerable. Often the physician in his daily rounds finds it necessary to prescribe "perfect quiet" in order that the flickering spark of life remaining in the patient may be brought back to a healthy flame, yet in nine cases out of ten that perfect quiet he deems so important cannot be had owing to the noise from the street. Especially is this true in warm weather, when windows must be kept open.
The makers of unnecessary noise in New York are not confined to any one class. All are more or less guilty, from the church people to the organ grinder and the street peddler. Any one who studies this subject and observes carefully will be astonished and disgusted at the reckless disregard of each for the health, peace and comfort of all others.
If you should go for a walk in Fifth avenue on a fine afternoon and all sorts and conditions of people were to begin to assault you with swiftness, you would call the police. They would be promptly arrested and properly punished.
What for? They have not killed you or mutilated you or drawn any blood, and you are apparently none the worse for these assaults. What they have done is to irritate the nerve terminations of one of your five senses—viz., that of touch, or the tactile sense, and through the nerves of this sense they have made you conscious of painful sensations. This is exactly the treatment you do receive from these same people by their unnecessary assaults on another sense—viz., that of hearing. But should you ask the authorities to interfere in this case, you would likely be arrested yourself and your sanity inquired into.—

Naval Experience.
Unhappily for naval science—happily for all other interests—experience during the 40 years of the life of modern warships has been rare and inconclusive.
The effect is that the opinion of naval architects and naval officers is left halting between experiment and experience.
And the very infrequency of actual fighting at sea during a period in which the navies of the world have been completely transformed is liable to lead to a one-sided or vastly exaggerated estimate of the historical data at our disposal. There is a tendency to exalt the weapon which has proved its efficiency most lately into the one ponderable factor beside which all others may be neglected.
The school of experiment needs correction, but the school of experience often lacks balance. It is apt to forget that the experience which it generalizes is always fragmentary and often irrelevant. Thus, after the American civil war, with its Merrimack and its Monitor, armor became the one thing needful. After Lissa, because of the happening to sink the Re d'Italia, the ram was to be the deciding factor in all future combats. The engagements on the Danube and Black sea coast in 1877 and 1878 brought about a similar apotheosis of the torpedo. And the China-Japan war is likely to sow as confident a conviction that the navy which has quick firing artillery and high speed has every necessary element of force to secure an impregnable supremacy.—

The Russian Translator of Dickens.
Izmirch Ivanovich Vredensky was the son of a poor but intelligent village peasant, or priest, who filled his glaze to feed and clothe his large family of daughters and this only son, to whom he still found time to impart the rudiments of education. Izmirch was a sickly and lonesome boy, cut off from all playfellows by his astetic though well meaning father, and he grew up to manhood in bitter poverty, having sometimes literally nowhere to lay his head. Yet, in spite of all obstacles, he became a distinguished scholar, a versatile linguist and a beloved pedagogue in the military schools at St. Petersburg.
He was growing in fame and favor with the authorities and had been called upon to undertake educational work of the highest importance, when his blindness and premature death cut short his bravo career. His translations of Dickens, Thackeray, Dumas, Cooper, etc., are classical and laid the foundation of the wonderful popularity which their works still enjoy in Russia.—Notes and Queries.

Had Never Heard of Him Before.
"A new slang phrase is picked up and worn out in a day in the great cities of the country," said a commercial traveler, "but sometimes years elapse before they are ever heard in rural districts. I was side tracked in a little mining camp in southern Oregon a few days ago and was playing freeze out with some of the natives. In the course of events I got three tens and made a small bet. A big, red shirted Hoosier opposite raised me. I raised him back, and he came back at me with another raise.
"Well, I'll have to call you," I said.
"My name is mad."
"He raised up from his chair, seized my hand in his big paw and shaking it enthusiastically said in all seriousness:
"Glad to know you, Mr. Mad. My name is Jenkins."—San Francisco

Carlyle to Thackeray.
Thackeray had asked Carlyle to send in something for The Cornhill Magazine, and this is Carlyle's reply:
Oct. 20, 1850.
DEAR THACKERAY—Right gladly I would if only I could, but I can get behind me of nothing in the least likely. Indeed I am so crushed to death amid Prussian rubbish these last years past I have nearly lost the power of thinking in any form and am possessed by one and the same ghost of a thought. How can I get out of this cursed thing alive? If ever I do live to get out of it and find the Thackeray magazine and editor still lively, then!
Meanwhile I do not quite give the matter up — your matter, I mean—as despairing, and if any possibility do offer be sure I will lay hold of it. With prayers for the new periodical and you, yours ever,
T. CARLYLE.

Worth Trying.
It was evident that the man who stood in the doorway of the fire engine house was terribly in earnest.
"What is it?" asked the fireman.
"You have an opportunity to prove yourself a true friend to a great many people, if you are willing to do it."
"I'll do anything in reason," said the fireman. "What do you want me to do?"
"Why, you see, I live in that big apartment building on the next corner, and there's a woman in the flat above me who plays the piano all the time."
"Well?"
"Well, I thought, maybe if I turned in a fire alarm it would give you a chance to rush up there and rain that piano before any one had time to tell you that it was a false alarm. What?
You won't? I might have known you were no true friend to humanity."—

Hollow Shafting.
The use of hollow shafting instead of solid appears to be gaining in favor, the principle, of course, not being new, but mechanical difficulties presenting themselves in certain applications. For instance, a pulley is sometimes fastened to a shaft by means of a bit of metal called a key wedged in between the two, a slight recess or seat being cut in the shaft and the inner surface of the wheel to receive it, and thus, so long as the shaft is solid, the key can be driven inward without special care. If, however, the shaft were hollow, it might spring slightly under the pressure and its shape be to that degree distorted.
But the fact is now coming to be recognized that screw clamping bolts running radially inward from the hub of a pulley will grip the shaft as firmly as a key, the latter being pronounced needless by experts.—New York Sun.

Facetiousness Doesn't Pay.
She was a cheaply but neatly dressed little woman who walked wearily into the bookstore and asked for postage stamps.
"We are not carrying that line this season," replied the proprietor in earcastic tone and a low of mock deference.
"Of course not," said the rich, pretty and indignant young lady who was about to leave a large order. "Of course not. There is no profit in them, and you cannot gull the public by advertising a quarter off sale on them." Then the pretty young lady sold the meek little woman some stamps, and they went out together, while the proprietor hurried up stairs to bat his head against the wall.—Detroit Free Press.

"Don't you find children troublesome, Mrs. Jurgis?"
"No, our dear babes are all right, but the neighbors' youngsters worry me nearly to death."—Detroit Free Press.
